Engage with English

Gita Krenek

EXPRESSIONS

DIALOGUE WRITING

DESCRIBING A PICTURE

THE APOSTROPHE

THE DOG'S BONE

RIDDLES

This worksheet is suitable for classes 3 to 7.

1. Expressions

Sometimes the English language obeys grammar rules; sometimes there is no rule, just "this is how we say it." Here are some English expressions to practise.

1.1. A (cup) of....

In English we don't say "a cup tea", we say "a cup of tea". We use "of" when we have something that is full of something else. Complete these sentences using one of the expressions in the box. Write the whole sentence in your notebook.

A bag of	a box of	a glass of	a spoon of	a bottle of	a bucket of

1. Neelam puts ..... sugar in her tea.
2. I need ..... water for my bath.
3. My aunt brings ..... mangoes for us.
4. My aunt gave me ..... chocolates for my birthday.
5. I buy a ..... cold drink from the shop.
6. When I am thirsty, I like to drink ..... water.

1.2. Without doing something

Here is an expression using the "-ing" form. Look at the example, and see if you can use this pattern to ask the questions in a better way. Write the new sentences in your notebook.

Example: Can you talk? Don't shout.
Can you talk without shouting?

1. Can you guess? Don't look.
2. Can you listen? Don't chat.
3. Can you do this? Don't forget.
4. Can you come? Don't run.
5. Can you hear the joke? Don't laugh.
6. Can you fall? Don't cry.
7. Can you recite the poem? Don't look at the words.
8. Can you climb down? Don't fall.

1.3. Only

Look at the example, and then answer the questions in the same way. Write the answers in your notebook.

Example: Do foxes fly? No, foxes don't fly. Only birds and insects fly.

1. Do cats have puppies?
2. Do children drive cars?
3. Do goats have trunks?
4. Do babies go to school?
5. Do rats say "woof woof"?
6. Do tigers have horns?

1.4. Enough

Answer each question with "No...." The example will show you what to do.

Example: Is this string long enough? No, it is too short.

1. Is this bag new enough?
2. Is the bed soft enough?
3. Is this car fast enough?
4. Is it light enough now?
5. Is this music loud enough?
6. Is this exercise easy enough?
7. Was your day nice enough?
8. Am I early enough?

1.5. Have to

We can say "I must go," but we can also say "I have to go". Complete each sentence using "have to...". The example will show you what to do. You can use any phrases from the second box. Write the sentences in your notebook.

Example: I can't come now, I have to phone my friend.

cut the vegetables, catch the bus, finish this story, wash the clothes, shut the windows, learn this poem, open this tin, buy some sugar, go home, find the jacket, listen to this song.

1. I can't come now, I.....
2. She can't talk now, she.....
3. The children can't play now, ...
4. You can't sing now,.....
5. Nitin can't go to the shop now,.....
6. My grandma can't listen to you now,.....

1.6. Look

If we can see that someone is unhappy, we can say "you look sad". Think of a word to fill in the gap and write the sentences in your notebook.

1. You look ..... Do you want to eat something?
2. You look ..... in that nice soft bed.
3. She looked ..... in her wedding sari.
4. Mum looks ..... She worked all day.
5. The teacher looks..... Be quiet!
6. He looked ..... so she got him a sweater.

2. Some riddles

Can you find one word for each riddle? Write the answers in your notebook.

1. The first food of the day.
2. Go on one foot.
3. What we do when we hear a good joke.
4. An animal with no legs.
5. This is between the floor and the roof.
6. A very big hill.
7. The king wears this on his head.
8. A place where you buy things.
9. A thing we look through, made of glass.
10. We use this thing to talk to people we cannot see.

3. A dialogue

First, read this dialogue between Amit and his mother.

Next, choose a partner – one of you can be Amit, the other can be Mum. Quietly practice speaking the dialogue until you can say it without looking at the words. Now you can perform it in front of the class. You can say any kind of food that you want, it doesn't have to be beans or rice – use your imagination. It will be more fun if you can bring some food items from home, like rice, carrot, eggplant, capsicum, etc. You can use an empty ice cream wrapper for the ice cream; or it could be a toffee.

Amit is sick

Mum: Good morning Amit.

Amit: Good morning Mum. I don't feel well today.

Mum: Oh dear. Do you want some rice?

Amit: Oh no, I don't want rice.

Mum: Do you want some beans with pickle?

Amit: I don't like beans with pickle.

Mum: Do you want an egg?

Amit: No, I don't want an egg. I am too sick to eat.

Mum: Do you want an ice cream?

Amit: Oh yes please Mum!

Mum: I'm sorry Amit, you are too sick to eat. Go back to bed!

Don't/doesn't

Remember that we use do not (short form don't) for I, you, we, they (more than one person or thing); and does not (short form doesn't) for he, she, it (one person or thing).

Make a sentence for each person in the left box. Choose one word (or a group of words) from each box.

			the door
You		go	the teacher
Rupal		wash	to school
The girls	don't	open	the pots
Mum	doesn't	like	into the room
My brother		draw	the box
We		find	the clothes
			my cycle

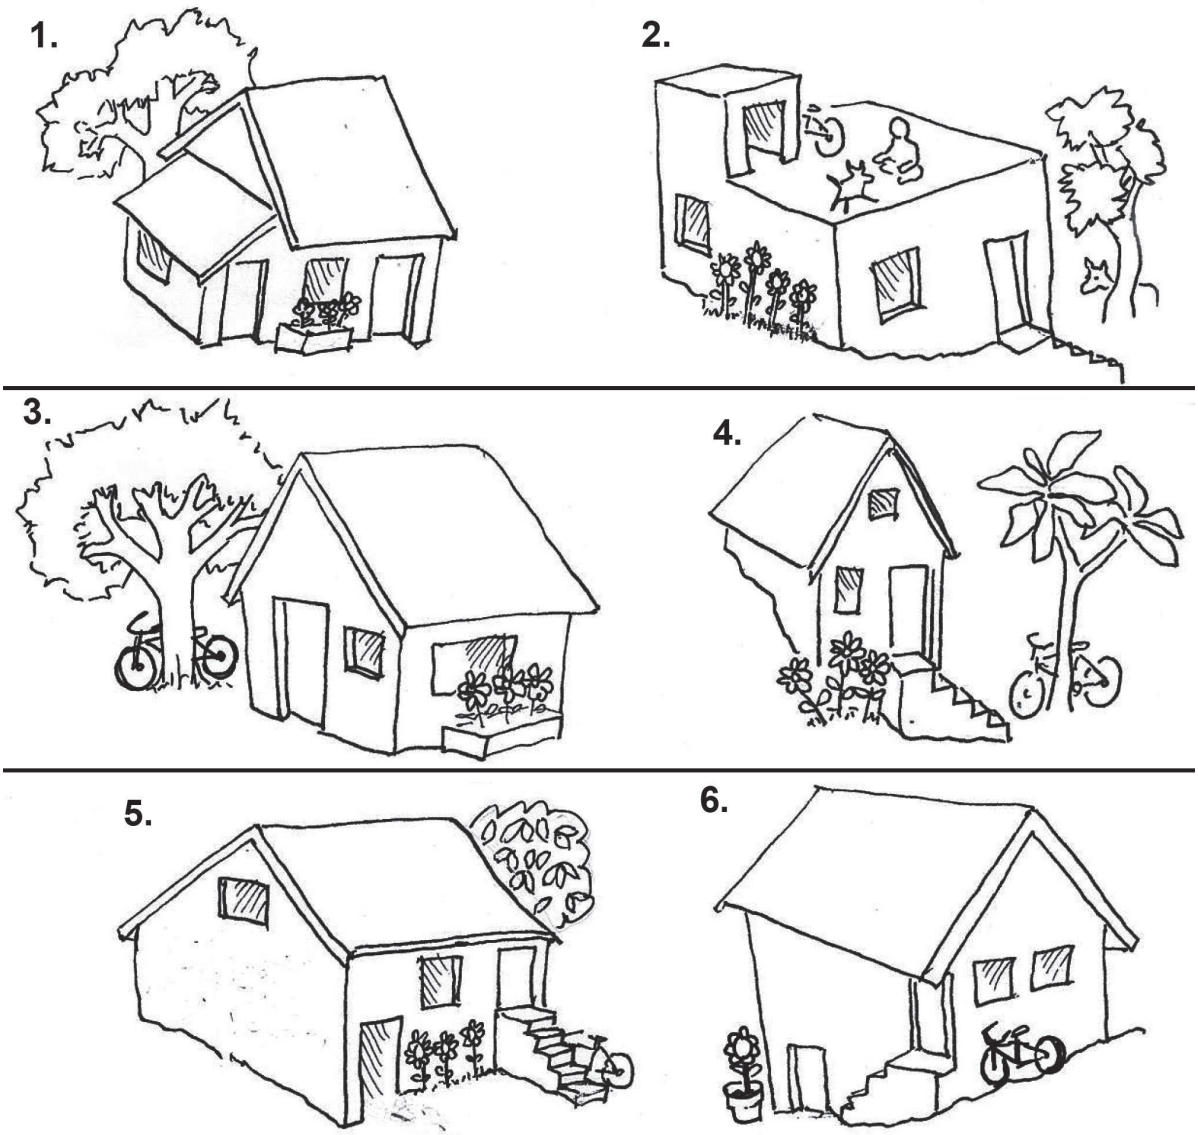
4. Because

Dimpal wants to visit her friend Preha. Preha says Come to Reetha* and look for this house:

– It has one door
– It has two windows
– There are flowers in front of the house
– There is a tree beside the house
– A cycle is behind the tree."

Which is the correct house? Why? Write your sentences like this:
It is not number…..because……..and……. It is number ….. because……

Use expressions like: "there are….." "there is no…" "there is only one…." "the tree is….." "the cycle is….." "the flowers are…"



* Name of a village in Uttarakhand

5. Describe a picture

Have a good look at this picture. In your notebook, write everything you can about it. Try to make your sentences interesting. "There is a tree" is not an interesting sentence, and "I can see a tree" is not very interesting either.

Look at the people in the picture. Who are they? Why are they here? How did they get here? Use your imagination to tell some things about them.

6. Apostrophes

An apostrophe is the little mark you sometimes see between two letters in a word: ’. There are two kinds of apostrophes:

1. When we leave out one or more letters to join two words together, we put in an apostrophe. This is called a ‘short form’.
   For example: he is → he’s, they will → they’ll, of the clock → o’clock.

2. We use an apostrophe to show that someone owns something. It is called ‘possessive’, because to possess something means it belongs to you, you have it.
   For example: Rekha’s pen = it is her pen, she owns this pen.
   My father’s hat = this hat belongs to my father, it is his hat.

   We can say ‘his’ or ‘her’. In Hindi we would say ‘ka/ke/ki’.

   Here is a little story with some apostrophes:
   At 4 o’ clock Babli’s mother says, “Please go to Mr.Shah’s shop and get carrots and onions for dinner.” “OK, I’ll do it,” answers Babli, “if I can ride my brother’s cycle.” On the way to the shop, Babli sees her sister’s friend. She’s crying. “What’s wrong?” asks Babli. “Some boys took my toffees,” replies the girl. “That’s awful,” says Babli. “Come with me, I’ll get you some more sweets.”

   Write all the words in the story that have a ‘short form’ apostrophe in the left box, and the words with ‘possessive’ apostrophes in the right box.

Short form	Possessive

You will see that all the 'possessive' words have the letter-s at the end. However, there are many words that end in -s, but we don't use an apostrophe.

1. When one person does something (not I or you), we have to put an-s at the end of the verb.
   Example: I run → Kamal runs/he runs
   We call this '3rd person-s'. We can say he or she or it. No apostrophe.

2. When we have more than one thing (this is called 'plural'), we put-s at the end of the word.
   Example: one bag, two bags; one tree, many trees. No apostrophe.

Now read the story again, and put all the words that end in-s (but do not have an apostrophe) into this table.

3rd person (he/she/it + verb)	Plural (more than one thing)

Now you understand when we need an apostrophe and when we don't need an apostrophe. Read these sentences and put the apostrophes in the right places.

1. Amits cup falls to the floor.
2. There are two books in Rekhas bag.
3. "Dont shout" says Dad.
4. Amits mother gets up at 7 o clock.
5. Im playing with my brothers.
6. "Whats Jay doing?" "Hes looking for his socks."
7. The farmers cow eats the green leaves.
8. Geeta runs to her friends house.
9. Kamals angry because his friends sister broke his pencils.
10. "Wheres my cap?"asks Nakul. "Its on the chair with your sunglasses."

7. Fun with words and sentences

7.1. Sentence halves

Match up these sentence halves and write the full sentences in your notebook.

1. I meet my friend	and rice for dinner.
2. We cook vegetables	of mangoes please.
3. Think about	drink tea?
4. Does your grandma	at the bus stop.
5. Is there a sock	what I am telling you.
6. I want a kilo	under the bed?

7.2. Different sound

Cross out the words in each line that do not have the same sound as the first word in that line (look at the underlined letters). Spelling can be different! You can do it on this paper.

1. down	ground	grow	goat	cloud	now	throw
2. teacher	help	asleep	dream	forget	feet	their
3. take cart	erase	great	again	fat	lake	play
4. time	bird	nice	live	side	bin	find
5. you	use	turn	roof	but	book	fruit

7.3. Make new words

How many words can you make from the letters in helicopters? (I got 36.) You can use as many letters as you like in each word, and you can use the same letters in different words. You can put them in any order.

7.4. Scrambled words

The letters in these words have been mixed up. Write the correct words.

1. ushoe 2. drbi 3. salgs 4. keib 5. melis 6. ehett 7. krad 8. greti

7.5. Things that go together

Match the words that go together in some way. You can draw lines on this paper.

bird	hill
cold	umbrella
raincoat	read
mountain	nest
arm	birthday
book	wall
roof	sweater
cake	hand

Gita Krenek taught English in a small rural primary school in Northern India for some years. There she developed learning materials and dialogues for the teachers of all levels, which she is happy to share. She is now retired and living in her native New Zealand. She can be reached at <gitakrenek@gmail.com>.